Benjamin Brittain is an associate in the firm's litigation practice group. He focuses on general civil litigation.

While attending the University of Colorado Law School, Mr. Brittain clerked at the firm's Denver office. During his tenure at the University of Colorado Law School, Mr. Brittain also participated in the Criminal Defense Clinic representing indigent clients in Boulder County. Mr. Brittain's time as a student attorney with the Criminal Defense Clinic helped develop the skills that will assist him in advocating for his clients in the civil litigation setting.

Mr. Brittain is a Colorado native originally from Durango, Colorado. In his free time, Mr. Brittain enjoys playing music, traveling, and spending time with friends and family.
